Notes:

1. HCD has stated to the City that vacant parcels must be entirely unimproved and separately subdivided parcels, and Table 2-6 reflects this direction. However, the City believes that the following sites should also be considered to be vacant: Site 01 (50 units) consists entirely of unimproved land, but has not been subdivided from the improved part of the site. Site 07 (33 units) consists of unimproved land and an abandoned, vacant structure. Site AD2c (30 units) has utility lines on a portion of the site which have been deducted from net acreage, but the parcel is otherwise entirely unimproved, and the utility lines would not prevent an owner from developing the site for residential units. In the City's view, these sites should be considered vacant, adding 118 additional units to the Unit Yield on vacant property, for a sub-total of 727 units on vacant sites, far above 50% of the unmet RHNA need for the planning period.
2. HCD does not consider Site numbers 06a and 06b adequate sites to meet any portion of the Regional Housing Needs Allocation for lower-income households. The City acknowledges that it should not consider these sites available pursuant to Gov. Code Section 65863 absent additional information regarding site availability and owner interest in developing a residential project.
3. Unit Yield anticipates that this site will be developed for mixed-use.

NET ACREAGE AND SITE CAPACITY CALCULATIONS

Very Low/Low Income RHNA Candidate Sites

NET ACREAGE CALCULATION METHOD

The net acreage for each candidate site was calculated based on the gross acreage (for all parcels included in the site) minus the acreage deemed partially or completely undevelopable based on existing steep slopes and known environmental constraints. Environmental constraints were determined based on known site information for the parcels where that information was available and other sources, such as the City's Local Coastal Program and site observations. The site capacity was determined by applying a 25 du/ac standard to the net acreage for each candidate site.

The following calculation methods apply to slope constraints (per the City of Encinitas Municipal Code for purposes of calculating density):

- All land in 0-25% slope of natural grade is allowed to use 100% of acreage.
- All land in 25-40% slope of natural grade is allowed to use 50% of acreage.
- All land in 40% + slope of natural grade is allowed to use 0% of acreage.

All acreages shown on the following sheets include any applicable acreage deductions from the gross acreage. The informational sheets include a note either stating that there were no known topographic or environmental constraints or detailing the acreage removed from the gross acreage and the reasoning.

Mixed-use Site Capacity: For mixed-use sites capacity was calculated per Section 3.2.3 of the Downtown Specific Plan and Section 3.1.2 of the Encinitas North 101 Specific Plan, which permits a maximum lot utilization of 90% and requires that residential uses not exceed 50 percent of the gross building floor area for the development site. The capacity of other mixed-use sites was determined based on the area available for housing development, largely determined by the owner.

Site Capacity: All parcels shown with fewer than 16 units are in common ownership with one or more adjacent parcels or are likely to be consolidated with one or more adjacent parcels based on owner representations. In these cases, the parcels are considered one site that can accommodate at least 16 units. Development proposals must contain at least 16 units to take advantage of R-30 overlay zoning.

Through ~~June 5, 2020~~ August 12, 2020 the City has received applications for residential development on ~~five~~ seven sites (see discussion below). Whereas Table C-1 projected a unit yield of ~~737~~ 847 units on these sites, developers have requested ~~1,250~~ 1,453 units on these sites with the use of density bonuses. This indicates that the projected unit yield is conservative, and the sites are likely to yield more units than projected.

WATER AND SEWER AVAILABILITY

As discussed in Appendix B, each site has been evaluated to ensure there is adequate access to water and sewer connections. Each site is situated adjacent to a public street that has the appropriate water and sewer mains and other infrastructure to service the candidate site.

CONTINUING OWNER INTEREST IN SITE DEVELOPMENT

Although the attached letters were primarily received by the City in 2018, following approval of the Housing Element by the City in March 2019, owners or developers associated with 11 of the 15 sites have met with City staff to discuss proposed development of the site. No developers have requested that their site be removed from R-30 zoning. As of August 12, 2020 June 5, 2020, the City had received applications for the following numbers of units on nine of the designated sites:

Site	Total Net Acreage	Projected Unit Yield	Proposed Number of Units	Proposed Number of Affordable Units	Affordability Level
Rancho Santa Fe Parcels (Gaffney/Goodson) (08a, 08b)	6.02	149	283	42	Low
Baldwin & Sons Properties (AD2a, AD2b, AD2c)*	9.05	225	483	72	Low

Sage Canyon Parcel (AD1)*	2.4	60	135	21	Low
Vulcan & La Costa Site (AD8)*	2	50	68	12	Low
Total		847	1,453	227
*Submittal comment requires calculations of the number of affordable units to be verified.

In addition, developers or owners of two of the remaining 9 sites have indicated their intent to apply within the next six months. It therefore appears that the sites are suitable for development within the planning period and are likely to provide more units than projected. Further, the City's development standards do not appear to be perceived as an obstacle to achieving the densities specified in the Housing Element, and the projected unit yields appear to be a conservative estimate of likely development.

In addition, developers or owners of four of the remaining eight sites have met with City staff to review their potential projects that are described below. It is important to note that the number of dwelling units being considered by the property owners/developers is an estimate that is subject to change with application submittal, verification by staff that they comply with the zoning, density bonus (if applicable), and inclusionary housing requirements, and final approval of the application.

Greek Church Site (01) - This Housing Element Site is considering a request for a density bonus to construct a multi-family development with approximately 60 new dwelling units, compared with 50 projected units, of which 12 would be restricted affordable units.

Cannon Property (Piraeus Site) (02) - This Housing Element Site is considering a request to construct a multi-family development with approximately 160 new dwelling units, compared with 173 projected units. It is unknown at this time how many would be restricted affordable. The City's inclusionary ordinance requires that a minimum of 15 percent of the units (24 units) be affordable to lower income households.

Encinitas Blvd. & Quail Gardens Sites (05) – This Housing Element Site is considering a request for a density bonus to construct a multi-family development with approximately 207 new dwelling units, compared with 119 projected units, of which 31 would be restricted affordable units.

Meyer Proposal (AD31) - This Housing Element Site is considering a request for a density bonus to construct a multi-family development with approximately 198 new dwelling units, compared with 163 projected units, of which 20 would be restricted affordable units.

It therefore appears that the sites are suitable for development within the planning period and are likely to provide substantially more housing units than projected. Further, the City's development standards do not appear to be perceived as an obstacle to achieving the densities specified in the Housing Element, and the projected unit yields appear to be a conservative estimate of likely development in almost every case.

However, the applications received to date do not contain as many units at the lower income level as projected, with 227 lower income units proposed compared with 847 projected. Nonetheless, even if all of the applications are approved as currently proposed, the City's lower income inventory, including ADUs, will remain at 974 units, in excess of the 838 units required. The City recognizes that at some point in the planning period it is likely that "no net loss" requirements will mandate that additional sites be designated for lower income housing. In that case, the City will comply with Program 1E to ensure that adequate sites remain available throughout the planning period.

DEFINITIONS

Vacant Parcel: HCD has stated to the City that vacant parcels must be unimproved. Sites containing abandoned, non-habitable, or vacant structures or powerlines are considered to be non-vacant by HCD unless the owner has applied for, and been issued, a demolition permit. Similarly, vacant portions of parcels designated for housing development are considered by HCD to be non-vacant unless the vacant portions of the site have been subdivided from the non-vacant portions. Sites used for agriculture are also considered to be non-vacant by HCD. The designations of vacant and non-vacant parcels in this Appendix C conform to the direction provided to the City by HCD.¹

Non-Vacant Parcel: Non-vacant parcels are all sites which HCD does not consider to be vacant. They include underutilized or developed parcels and sites containing existing structures or established uses. These may include temporary structures associated with an active use (i.e., agricultural greenhouses) or other uses currently operating on the site.

Mixed-use Site Capacity: For mixed-use sites within the Encinitas North 101 and Downtown Specific Plan areas, capacity was calculated per Section 3.1.2.D of the Specific Plan, which states a maximum lot utilization of 90% and that residential uses shall not exceed 50 percent of the gross building floor area for the development site. The capacity of other mixed-use sites was determined based on the area available for housing development, largely determined by the owner.

Site Capacity: All parcels shown with fewer than 16 units are in common ownership with one or more adjacent parcels or are likely to be consolidated with one or more adjacent parcels based on owner representations. In these cases, the parcels are considered one site that can accommodate at least 16 units.

Owner-Interest: Sites with “owner interest” listed in the description indicate that the City has been directly contacted by the property owner and received an acknowledgment of their interest in writing, either by email or by a formal letter.

NOTES:

¹ The City believes that vacant portions of parcels designated for housing development and sites containing only abandoned, non-habitable, or vacant structures or powerlines should also be considered to be ‘vacant’ because they contain no existing use that prevents an owner from developing the site.

C.2 Moderate and Above Moderate Candidate Sites Inventory

CALCULATION of UNIT CAPACITY

Encinitas has grown from its agricultural roots to a more modern, suburban community. As development continues to change throughout the region and demand outpaces supply of housing, Encinitas has designated sites for reuse to accommodate its moderate-income and above moderate income needs. Once a traditional commercial corridor, Pacific Coast Highway has begun to evolve as a unique coastal urban infill opportunity area. The city's adoption of the Downtown Encinitas Specific Plan and the North Highway 101 Corridor Specific Plan provide the policy guidance for the transition to residential and mixed use development along this Corridor.

PROCESS of SITE EVALUATION

The City conducted a review of sites that have recently converted to residential to accommodate Moderate and Above Moderate Income Households. Within the Downtown, Highway 101 and adjacent areas, permits have been issued for 63 units in the Downtown and North Highway 101 areas. The 17 separate applications involve the construction of residential units in previous commercial properties. Through the adoption of the Specific Plans in these area, the intent is to expand opportunities for residential and commercial activity in a more urban setting.

The following factors contribute to the evaluation of appropriate sites for moderate market-rate units:

1. Access to Coast Highway – sites with direct access to Coast Highway or directly adjacent to it were deemed ideal for infill development
2. Sites exhibiting adjacent changes or significant investment – these include sites adjacent to major transportation facilities, new developments, mixed use development or major roadway improvements or planned improvements.
3. Sites exhibiting substantial underutilization – these sites are long term commercial retail, industrial or antiquated buildings that are deemed highly underutilized. These are typically smaller sites. These sites include areas zoned R11 and R25. The R11 and R25 sites are prime candidates for additional units and subdivisions as they are substantially underutilized
4. Accessibility to Water, Sewer and Utilities – Sites with adjacent infrastructure or already served by utilities.
5. Sites exhibiting lot consolidation potential – site that are perceived with potential to consolidate with adjacent parcels.

The reuse of existing developed sites has been a very successful means to accommodate growth in areas previously thought to be unavailable for growth. Table C-6 shows sites that have transitioned from commercial to residential or mixed use during the previous planning period.

MAP OF MODERATE AND ABOVE MODERATE SITES

CALCULATION OF UNIT CAPACITY

The capacity of these sites was initially determined by multiplying the parcel size by the minimum or midrange density for that zoning designation.

In mixed-use areas (Downtown and North 101 Specific Plan Areas), only sites large enough to accommodate at least four dwelling units were included to identify those sites most likely to be redeveloped. The site capacity was then further reduced based on the likelihood of redevelopment, as described in Appendix B. In particular, only 50 percent of the capacity of the sites in the DCM-2, D-VSC and D-OM Zones of the Downtown Encinitas Specific Plan, as well as the N-CM1, N-CM2, N-CM3, N-CRM1, and N-CRM2 Zones of the North 101 Corridor Specific Plan, has been counted to recognize constraints posed by existing uses. Because redevelopment is most likely in the DCM-1 Zone, 75 percent of the capacity of the DCM- 1 Zone has been counted. These deductions have resulted in a very conservative estimate of the development potential of the mixed use area.

SELECTION OF SITES

This Appendix C contains a selection of those sites that are most likely to be developed for moderate and above-moderate income housing. Sites have been removed that have already been developed, and those that could accommodate fewer than four units, in mixed use zones, or only one unit, in residential zones.

WATER, SEWER, AND DRY UTILITY AVAILABILITY

As discussed in Appendix B, each site has been evaluated to ensure there is adequate access to water and sewer connections as well as dry utilities. Each site is situated adjacent to a public street that has the appropriate water and sewer mains and other infrastructure to service the candidate site.
